

Master Program International Business Consulting at University of Applied Sciences Offenburg, Germany

The MBA “International Business Consulting” (IBC) is a compact, hands-on, international program preparing you in 15 months for a leading position in In-house Consulting as well as in External Consulting.

Responding to the need for qualified consultants and recognizing the tendency that more and more managers are being confronted with consultancy tasks in their daily work, the IBC program was established at the University of Applied Sciences of Offenburg in the year 1999. Interactive teaching, class discussion and case studies are an important part of the seminars. The faculty is comprised of experienced University professors and German, British and American external guest lecturers from companies and consulting agencies, such as Bosch, Dow and Ernst & Young.

The first two semesters are purely seminar based. In the third semester students will prepare the Master Thesis, usually as an in-company project.
